

As fall class starts for students, some of the best places to visit in Sarasota's college area

Fall classes start Monday for Ringling College of Art & Design , New College of Florida and University of South Florida Sarasota-Manatee, and some students living in Sarasota for the first time may be wondering what there is to do.

All three colleges are located within a few miles of each other on North Tamiami Trail. And though this strip of road may not look like your traditional college town, there are a number of cool coffee shops, bars, restaurants and more to be found there.
